

More Massachusetts beers from Jonathan Murphy

CBC Heather Ale

Cambridge Brewing Company - Cambridge, Mass

5% ABV - Summer Seasonal, Bottles, Draft

Malts: Floor-malted barley

Adjuncts: Fresh harvested heather flowers, sweet gale, lavender, and yarrow.

From out of the darkness of pre-recorded history, Heather Ale is an altogether unique brew. Originally crafted by the inhabitants of coastal Northern Europe, Scandinavia, and the Northern British Isles, fresh heather flowers and other herbs were used to balance and flavor the rustic yet sweet toasted character of the malted barley. Its brewing tradition existed long before the advent of hopped beers, and has continued, sporadically, in small rural communities for millennia.

Slumbrew My Better Half

Imperial Cream Ale

Somerville Brewing Company

(They brew at Mercury Brewing Company in Ipswich, Mass)

7.2% ABV, 25 IBU - Limited seasonal, Bottles, Draft

Hops: Cascade, Mt Hood, Saaz

Grain: 2-row pilsner, caramel, honey malts and cereal grains

Slumbrew Trekker Trippel

Belgian Style Trippel

Somerville Brewing Company

(They brew at Mercury Brewing Company in Ipswich, Mass)

9.5% ABV, 36 IBU - Rotating release, Bottles, Draft

Hops: Chinook, Motueka

Grain: Belgian pilsen, caramel malts

Adjunct: Dried jasmine flower

Pretty Things White Fluffy Rabbits

"Some sort of Tripel"

Pretty Things Beer & Ale Project

(They brew at Buzzards Bay Brewing in Westport, Mass)

8.5% ABV, 50 IBU - Spring seasonal, Bottles, Draft

Hops: Amarillo, Saaz, Styrian Golding

Grain: Pils, Malted Wheat

CBC Tripel Threat

Belgian Style Tripel

Cambridge Brewing Company - Cambridge, Mass

10% ABV - Winter Seasonal, Bottles, Draft

CBC was the first American brewery to create and produce a Belgian-style beer. Our tripel went on to win our first ever Gold Medal at the Great American Beer Festival, in 1991, before there was even a category for "Belgian Ales." Tripel Threat is fermented with our proprietary Belgian yeast strain and brewed using imported Continental malts, hopped with Spalt and Goldings, and very lightly spiced with freshly toasted and ground coriander. Proceeds from bottle sales of Tripel Threat will benefit research for a cure for ALS, also known as Lou Gehrig's Disease.